Dear Parents and Carers,

Today we celebrate the Queen's 90th Birthday with a tea party. The whole village, as well as parents, have been invited to join together as a community this afternoon and come to the school for tea and cake. Staff and children are dressed in red, white and blue and there is bunting strung all around the school and grounds. The children have been learning about the monarchy and linking this to our British values.

Abi B. in year 6 was shortlisted for Kent County Council's cake design competition and on Wednesday, she and her family went to County Hall to present her cake to judges Rosemary Shrager, Lady De L'Isle and the Lord Lieutenant of Kent. In spite of there being an unprecedented number of high calibre entries from over 100 schools, we are so proud to share with you that Abi was the overall winner! Congratulations Abi.

Today also sees the launch of a new website for our school. Mr Hawkins has been working very hard on transferring all of the valuable content from our original site to one, which I hope you will agree, has a fresher look and should be easier to navigate.

We had 25 guests for our Father's day lunch this week. Thank you to everybody who attended and for your kind comments. All credit to the kitchen team for another successful community event.

I wish you all a wonderful weekend.
