

Picture News

at Home

15th October 2018

What's going on this week?

On October 16th, 50 years ago, African-American sprinters John Carlos and Tommie Smith raised their gloved fists in a black power salute at the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City, while the American national anthem played during the presentation of their medals. Their gesture was a show of defiance against racism taking place in America.

Things to talk about at home...

- 🍏 Do you think it's ever ok to break rules if it's for the greater good? Can you think of any examples where it might be considered acceptable?
- 🍏 If you have any family, friends or neighbours who are over the age of 60, show them the image of Carlos and Smith and ask them what they remember about the incident and what the outcome was.

Please note any interesting thoughts or comments here...

